These checklists can be used as part of your clinical observations when assessing a child. You can also ask the child's parents and/or teacher to complete these screening tools to determine functioning at home and school.

This is not a standardized test but standardized tests were used to compile the 'Early childhood development checklist' and the observation screening tools are based on this book.

A copy of the references used to compile the book can be emailed to you.

Reports available in PDF format.

Reports only available in English.

Each therapist that bought the observation screening tools may use them as often as they need and make as many copies as necessary. You are not allowed to forward the observation screening tools to other therapists/schools/institutions as these reports are protected by copyright – Carla Grobler Occupational Therapist 2015.
